If you recall the last time we featured Khalid Shafar, he had released a variety of stools and chairs using Danish rope. This time, he's created two new pieces that caught my eye. Anything with the word "lazy" in the name, you know I'm sure to be there!

Lazy Folds is a daybed that uses an old-school cotton stuffing technique that Shafar witnessed as a child in Bur Dubai while shopping with his mother. The folded mattress is actually one giant mattress folded seven times. When extended to three folds, it transforms into a daybed.

Fallen Palm is an extension of the Little Palm stool but placed on its side and elongated into bench form. Each end featured hidden storage drawers, and the top is upholstered with local goat hair.
